Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson's lead over Gov. R. S. Sterling was about 100,000, while that of the governor over Tom F. Hunter of the White House was about 65,000.

East Texas Oil Fire Is Finally Extinguished

TYLER, July 28.—(P)—The oil fire which has been raging for five days at the Loden No. 1 well of the Stien Drilling company, three and one-half miles north of Gladewater, was extinguished last night.

A crew of asbestos-clad fire fighters led by A. Patton succeeded in connecting a hydraulic manifold to the tubing and forcing sufficient water down the well to kill it.

Just before the manifold was rushed into place, national guardsmen were summoned to the scene to shoot the last valve from the tubing, three hundred bullets tore it away.

The fire fighters spent many tedious hours removing obstructions from around the well before they were able to place the hydraulic manifold.

Officials of the Stien company estimated the loss from the fire and the expense of quenching it would amount to approximately $60,000. The fire had been consuming about 1,000 barrels of oil hourly since its outbreak Friday night.

AUTHORS OF COMMUNISTIC PROPAGANDA AGAINST BANKS SOUGHT THROUGHOUT NATION

CHICAGO, July 28.—(P)—Authors of communistic propaganda found in a Pontiac, Mich. hotel were sought today by the secret service and detectives everywhere in a nationwide campaign against the confidence of bank depositors.

Chicago bankers, government officials and Michigan police unanimously blamed the communists for the systematic attack on the integrity of financial institutions in many large cities, particularly the runs which threatened every bank in Chicago last month.

It said by C. L. Smith, prosecuting attorney, Pontiac, to have been backed by Soviet Russia.

William Z. Foster, communist candidate for president, denied his organization had sponsored a whispering campaign against the First National bank of Pontiac, or that a man known as George Rowland, in whose room seditious letters were found, was a member of the party.

Thompson's drastic imprisonment law, providing 20 years imprisonment and directed against "anyone" who advocates, reforms of the government by violence or any other unlawful means, was viewed as the most potent weapon available to make them crimes.

COURT OF APPEALS HOLDS PARTY MAY SET QUALIFICATIONS

INJUNCTION WHICH PERMIT-TED BEXAR COUNTY NE-
GROES VOTE DISSOLVED

SAN ANTONIO, July 28.—(P)—Holding that the Democratic party has the right to prescribe qualifications for its members, the fourth court of civil appeals today dissolved an injunction by virtue of which Bexar county negroes voted in Saturday's primary election.

A mandatory injunction had been granted by District Judge Taylor the day before the election which permitted the negroes to vote. The injunction was obtained by C. A. Booker, a member of the Bexar County Colored Voters' League.

Today's ruling made all negro voters cast in Saturday's election illegal, but no contests were expected to result for the majority of the negro vote was conceded to have gone to People's ticket candidates, virtually all of whom were defeated, even by larger majorities than the size of the negro vote. The actual negro vote was believed to have been a small portion of the 4,500 eligible negro votes.

The ruling will prevent Bexar county negroes from voting in the run-off primary August 27, unless a writ of error from the state supreme court is obtained before that date. Carl Wright Johnson, attorney for Booker, said he would seek such a writ immediately.

Special Associate Justice S. S. Seary wrote the court's opinion which reversed and dismissed the injunction. Associate Justice Cobbs dissented from the majority opinion, but did not immediately write his opinion.

The resolution barring negroes from the primaries which was adopted by the state convention as a free and voluntary act of the fourth court held. It was therefore an expression of the will of the party in Texas, the opinion set out.

The Democratic party in Texas is a voluntary political association and, assembled in convention, has

MEN, NOT MACHINES, TO BE PREFERRED IN FEDERAL HIGHWAY AID

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—Men, not machines, are to be favored for jobs resulting from the new $120,000,000 federal highway aid.

And these workers—skilled and unskilled alike—must be employed on a 30-hour week basis and paid wages specified in contracts between the government and those who undertake the road construction. So specifies the law.

The bureau of public roads is ready to speed the expenditure of the money that would be used on the new relief law. First, Secretary Hyde must prepare regulations to carry out the congressional mandate of "the maximum employment of local labor consistent with reasonable economy of construction."

Machines will not be banished by any means, but it will be up to the highway department, with the cooperation of the state engineering, to determine what work can be done reasonably by hand. There is latitude for differing opinion.

No applications have been received yet for the new funds, but officials believe that the entire $120,000,000 will be demanded.

AGED FARMER IS TORNADO VICTIM IN MINNESOTA

DASSEL, Minn., July 28.—(P)—August Nikka, 75-year-old farmer, was killed and a dozen persons injured last yesterday in a tornado which wrecked numerous farm buildings in a 20-mile area northeast of here.

Nikka was crushed to death in his barn when the structure collapsed. Mrs. Nikka was injured seriously and taken to a hospital at Kokato.

Damage was expected to reach several hundred thousand dollars, the 1931 total of valuations were

Deadly Poison Found In Food Norman Family

WACO, July 18.—(P)—A chemical analysis revealed today that food from the table of the L. D. Norman family, two members of which died after a meal, had contained a deadly poison.

"Plenty" was the terse answer of Clyde Hays, city chemist of Waco, when asked how much poison he found in the food.

Ernest Norman, 14, and Jack, 8, sons of Norman, a farmer who lives near Axtell, 15 miles east of Waco, died at night after partaking of a meal at noon. Mr. and Mrs. Norman and five other children were seriously ill.

A physician suggested that insect poison in the kitchen might have been mixed with meal for making bread by mistake, but Mrs. Norman and a daughter said they were certain that had not happened.

An investigation to determine how the poison got into the cornbread eaten by the family was started today by District Attorney Willard McLaughlin.

Several chickens and turkeys which ate meal from sacks used in preparing the cornbread died.

Physicians today said the condition of Mr. and Mrs. Norman and the five children seriously ill from eating the meal was amazing, and slightly improved. Their chances of recovery were better.

Attractive Young Woman Being Held As Murder Witness

SAN JOSE, Calif., July 28.—(P)—An attractive young woman today charges that George Douglas Templeton, Jr., 20, a self-described "model boy," begged her to shield him from the consequences of a knife assault which sent his aunt to her grave and his uncle to a hospital seriously wounded.

The woman, who said her name was Claire Burnette, although she was booked by police as Claire Chapman, 28, declared Templeton sought her aid as an alibi witness after he fatally stabbed his aunt, Mrs. Lillian Babcock, Manila society matron, and wounded his uncle, William Rider Babcock, wealthy Philippine exporter.

She also declared she was secretly engaged to the youth, a former University of California student. He had sought to have her accompany him to Los Altos where the assault took place early Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Walter Bucklin, a sister of Mrs. Babcock, Miss Burnette further asserted.

She was arrested in Oakland, Calif., as a material witness and

G. O. P. LEADER SAYS CRITICISM OF HOOVER ALL WRONG

CHARGE POMERENE AP-
POINTMENT INCIDENT SHOWS
DESPERATION DEMOCRATS

PITTSBURG, July 28.—(P)—James Francis Burke, general counsel of the republican national committee, in a statement today said that "no more amazing evidence of democratic desperation has been furnished than the comments of democratic leaders on President Hoover's appointment of Ex-Senator Alvin Pomerene to the reconstruction finance corporation."

Burke said that "no matter what the president does, they (the democrats) are determined to criticize. The fact is this appointment is another evidence of the president's determination to lead the country out of its present dilemma, regardless of its being criticized for non-partisanship, while but a short time ago he was being denounced as a partisan by John N. Garner, speaker of the house."

Burke said that at that time he replied to Garner in a letter and that the things he said to the speaker then, apply now. He said he told Garner that Hoover "is the last man in the world you can trust to charge with using his office for partisan advantage."

He said Garner sent him a "good natured reply" but "there is no answer to the facts I set forth."

BLANKET REDUCTION PROPERTY VALUES NEEDED IN COUNTY TO BRING TAXES TO PROPER LEVEL

Navarro county citizens will be forced to pay more than their just share of the cost of the state court does not follow the example of numerous other counties in the state in making a blanket reduction in property values, according to J. N. Edens, one of the leading property owners of the county and president of the First National Bank.

According to Mr. Edens the state levy is based solely upon real property values and the income of the state depends upon the valuation set by each county. This year the state tax was set by an act of the legislature at a maximum of 69 cents, which was set by the automatic tax board at that figure, although the constitutional maximum is 77 cents.

Much Can Be Saved.

With a twenty-five per cent decrease in valuation, the figure adopted by a majority of the counties, Mr. Edens pointed out that about one-fourth of the estimated revenues of the state would be saved by the taxpayers.

He said that it was not the desire of Navarro county land owners to escape paying their just share of the cost of state government but that since other counties were making the reductions, they did not see why Navarro county residents should be penalized by paying at the same rate they paid for 1931. The decrease in Navarro county, according to Mr. Edens would amount to approximately seven million dollars since the 1931 total of valuations were approximately $28,000,000. The decrease would mean a net saving of one-fourth of the state tax to the tax payers of the county.

Reduction Increase Rate.

The reduction would not apply however to county and district levies. Mr. Edens pointed out, adding that in some instances it might be necessary to increase the 1931 rate in order to meet budget requirements, but that even with an increase in the local rate a saving would be made.

Certain county levies, particularly the general fund which is limited to 25 cents, and the road and bridge fund which has a limit of fifteen cents, would take a twenty-five per cent reduction of revenues. Mr. Edens pointed out, however, in some road districts it might be necessary to increase the levy to care for the interest and sinking fund requirements, although a full twenty-five per cent increase would not be needed to provide the same amount received last year, and a saving effected there. Mr. Edens is of the opinion that small increases in the rates will be needed in all districts having bonded indebtedness which includes road and levee improvement issues.

It is not the thought of the landowners to cripple the government, Mr. Edens said, and while it might be possible to make judicious and worthwhile investments of the county funds, these investments should be delayed un-

Health Expert Says Sick Care Must Be Reduced

NEW YORK, July 23.—(P)—Dr. J. A. Roncy believes it is time to cut the cost of medical care and he suggests the family doctor do something about it.

Dr. Roncy, chairman of the Greater New York committee on health examination, expressed his view in the current "Health Examiner," which his committee publishes in co-operation with the New York Academy of Medicine. The Academy ranks as one of the "blue ribbon" medical groups of the country.

"The methods of medical practice which obtained during an era of prosperity can no longer continue," Dr. Roncy says. "The lavish expenditures, which revealed in the treatment of the sick, will no more be possible."

"The family doctor, to a large degree, is responsible for the tremendous and very often unnecessary hospitalization of patients throughout the country. Many a patient who could just as easily be cared for at home is sent to the hospital. This generally proves costly to the patient, and very often he is unable to meet his obligation to the physician."

Dr. Roncy advocates the family doctor going into preventive medicine now, setting aside time for health examinations. He criticizes the "average doctor" for lack of resourcefulness.

Six Polish Army Fliers Killed In Three Crashes

Deputy Sheriff Kenneth M. Brown was so gravely wounded he was not expected to recover.

Deputy Wink Hardwick was seriously wounded and Dick East was shot in the arm.

AMERICANS PLAN STATEMENT ABOUT CANADIAN TRADE

UNITED STATES BUSINESS IN-TERESTS KEENLY WATCH-
ING OTTAWA MEET

BY FRANK I. WELLER.
OTTAWA, Ont., July 28.—(P)—American interests, eyeing the British imperial economic conference closely in an effort to protect their trade advantages in Canada, began today the drafting of an unofficial statement of views.

The Americans, outsiders at the conference but keenly interested, planned to indicate the disadvantages which might result to Canadian-American trade if certain proposals before the conference were agreed to.

At the same time, Great Britain sought diplomacy, eyeing Canada's hand and to learn what favors British industry may expect in return for preference tariffs favoring Canada.

From the outset, Great Britain has made it clear she can not act on diminution requests for export advantages until she knows what to expect in return.

Conference procedure provides that the daughter nations agree among themselves on trade barriers before Great Britain discusses separately with each what favors she must claim.

Interest of the United States, Argentina and other non-empire nations centers around Canada's stand. These outside nations are especially concerned as to what Canada will offer Great Britain in connection with the "if of $8,000" industrial articles proposed by Premier Bennett of Canada as a bargaining basis.

The first preliminary session of the committee on customs of the committee on customs administration attracted special notice today from the United States. This was because under the Canadian tariff act of 1930 the powers

WATER DEPARTMENT OFFICE IS ROBBED DURING NOON HOUR

FIFTY-THREE DOLLARS WAS TAKEN WHEN THE THIEF
FORCED MAIN DOOR

Police were searching Thursday afternoon for the intruder who had broken into the water department office in the city hall and escaped with approximately $53 from the city vault during the noon hour.

The robbery was discovered when the employees of the department returned from lunch and investigation disclosed that the door leading from the water department office to the main hall way of the city hall had been forced with a chisel or screwdriver. Once inside the robber had only to go into the vault and escape the cash, and make his escape in a matter of minutes.

All of the doors having spring locks.

The vault door is not locked during the noon hour but only closed, employees reported.

Police were endeavoring to find some clue from finger prints found on the woodwork near the forced door and on the vault door. Employees of the department are of the opinion that the robbery was committed by someone familiar with the arrangements of the building and the habits of the employees.

The water department office is located on the southwest corner of the first floor of the hall, immediately under police headquarters.

No arrests were reported at 2:30 Thursday afternoon.

Efforts to Evacuate Veterans Cause One Death; Many Injured

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—One unidentified veteran was shot dead and another seriously wounded in rioting between bonus seekers and police near the capital today, and troops were ordered out at the direction of President Hoover.

A bullet through the heart was the one that killed, when police opened fire upon veterans who were advancing toward them.

A group of his comrades took the man to a hospital in a patrol wagon, accompanied by two policemen. He was dead when he reached there.

There was no mark of identification about the body, and attaches at the hospital said that his comrades were so excited they could not get his name from them.

BONUS SEEKERS ATTACK POLICE IN CAPITAL THURSDAY

ATTACK OFFICERS SENT TO FORCIBLY EVACUATE THEM
FROM BUILDINGS

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—Brickbats hurled through the air and police nightsticks swung into action today in a clash between bonus-seeking war veterans and officers after some of the former service men had been evicted from the bonus shelters on lower Pennsylvania avenue near the capitol.

The veterans, described by Walter W. Waters, their commander-in-chief, as members of the radical wing of the bonus expedition, were suddenly began hurling bricks at the police.

The officers backed away, all the while using their clubs.

Several officers pulled their revolvers, but no shots were fired.

Within a short time they had obtained at least temporary order. The government through Attorney General Mitchell, ordered the complete evacuation of all veterans from government property.

Every policeman available was ordered to the lower Pennsylvania avenue section to guard against any contingencies.

Meanwhile, head injured veterans, who had been ordered to march to the scene, some of them picking up bricks and stones on the way.

In the melee, Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, was hit by a brick and his badge was torn off his coat. Later, it was restored by one of the veterans.

Waters, in a conference with Glassford, told the police chief the men were out of his control.

Poly said the brick throwers had come across the street from an adjacent ball park. Waters claimed they were followers of John Pace of Detroit, twice arrested leader of the radical wing of the bonus seekers.

Two veterans and three policemen were injured in the fight and taken to hospitals. The veterans were under arrest.

Must Evacuate.

The eviction of the veterans from the one building was a prelude to the proposed evacuation of all the structures in that vicinity occupied by the former service men. Treasury officials in charge of the work said it would go ahead regardless of consequences.

In spite of the brick barrage, police maintained their line.

HITLER GIVES DEMOCRACY IN GERMANY ONLY FEW MORE DAYS TO LIVE; VOTE SUNDAY

BERLIN, July 28.—(P)—Democracy in Germany was given only a few more days of life today by Adolf Hitler, fiery national socialist leader.

Winding up a dashing campaign for next Sunday's election with a speech at Berlin's stadium last night, Hitler brought thunderous cheers from 100,000 of his followers when he said:

"July 31 must remove the rule of democracy and of Marxism and its vassals from Germany and restore a regime of discipline, national conscience, honor and power."

"We aim," he continued, "to sweep the thirty political parties out of the country. We Germans must be a united people. We are on the eve of great historical decisions. The thirteen years of decadence (the life of the republic) are nearing an end.

"We don't believe in the possibilities for international aid, but only in aid founded on our own strength."

The Tuesday night radio speech continued to kick up a future throughout the country. The Bavarian Courier, powerful organ of the Southern Volkspartei, said the general's reference to "strengthening democracy" was "a hardy reconciliation with Chancellor von Papen's efforts for collaboration with France."

Von Schleicher's endorsement of Adolf Hitler's theory that the Reichswahr (army) alone is responsible for Germany's defense also brought down a crash of criticism.

Hitler's campaign posters today set him up as "Germany's Oliver Cromwell" and referred to Cromwell's words uttered as he closed the British parliament and established his dictatorship nearly 300 years ago—"take away that bauble!"

The Nazis scored a considerable victory yesterday when they succeeded in having the Prussian state ministry, now under the dictatorial control of Chancellor von Papen, repeal the long-standing law prohibiting national socialist propaganda from holding office.

The success followed a couple of pot shots which the Nazis and Nationalists fired at the Von Papen government, under the "the government was having a difficult time with its strongest right wing support on the eve of the election."

DIAMITE PLANT OF TORPEDO COMPANY ELECTRA IS WRECKED

LEWIS AND PAT KENT BLOWN TO BITS BY EXPLOSION OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN

ELECTRA, July 27.—(AP)—Two men were blown to bits today in a terrific explosion which wrecked the dynamite plant of the United States Torpedo company three miles east of Electra.

The dead were Lewis Kent, 24, and his brother, Pat Kent, 22, both prominent in Electra civic and fraternal affairs. An undetermined amount of dynamite and 600 quarts of nitroglycerine exploded, ruining the plant and blasting a hole in the ground more than 20 feet deep. Debris was strewn for hundreds of yards. It was learned that the Kent brothers had left their Electra home about 40 minutes before the explosion. No one was hurt.

The explosion was heard at Wichita Falls and Burkburnett, about 25 miles distant. Houses in Electra were shaken and a few windows were broken in buildings near the plant. The Kents came to Electra with their family from Cordell, Okla., ten years ago.

Survivors included their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Kent, three brothers, J. Madison and Fred, of Electra, and Custer of Borger; two sisters, Mrs. Earl Hicklin of Cordell and Miss Elizabeth Kent of Electra.

DECREASE OF $1.50 IN STATE SCHOOL APPORTIONMENT

AUSTIN, July 27.—(AP)—A decrease of $1.50 in the per capita apportionment for schools estimated in Texas free public schools has been authorized.

The state board of education yesterday cut the apportionment from $17.50 per student to $16.00 on estimated revenues prepared by the comptroller's department. Washer, chairman of the board, said school officials have been given notice several weeks ago of the probable reduction in the scholastic apportionment and had not been notified of the reduction for the 1932-33 school year in accordance with the anticipated cut.

The state comptroller yesterday estimated the obligations of the school fund Aug. 31 and end of the current fiscal year. The reduction of $1.50 in the apportionment would reduce the 1932-33 school fund by $2,500,000. The fund was unable to pay the per capita apportionment for the 1931-32 school year. The comptroller said that the state would be unable to pay the per capita apportionment for the 1932-33 school year. The comptroller said that the state would be unable to pay the per capita apportionment for the 1932-33 school year.

When Hunger Limit Is Reached Manna Is Sent From Heaven

With Multitudes Today Crying For Bread; The Old Story of How Israelites Were Fed in Sinai Is Timely—Some Thoughts Upon Providence

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

In a poem written, I think, by Edna Dean Proctor, occurs the striking line:

"Because hunger is, bread needs must be."

To put that same thought most unexpectantly, wherever God creates a demand, He also provides a supply. Anything else would be a reflection upon the comprehensive omniscience of the Almighty. Not always are His resources apparent, but they are always real. Even in the barren Sinai wilderness, God provided food for the Israelites. But they had not come to the end of their journey. As never before in living memory, the world today confronts the reality of human hunger. There is an acute bread-and-butter problem in myriads of homes. Mere subsistence is the crying need of a tragic multitude.

This truth is shaking society to its foundations. As Confucius said, the first duty of civilization is to feed its people. Literally everything else is secondary to this. All precedents and usages and conventional processes of civilization are of no account when the wolf of hunger howls at the doors of the people.

When Everybody Turns Primitive. Millions of yesterday are today's hunger-stricken people. They are all consumed by hunger for food to sustain life. We find ourselves back where the cave was, with food our first and our only need. All the luxuries and amenities of today are of no account when the wolf of hunger howls at the doors of the people.

WORLD CONFERENCE MAY ADOPT BORAH'S IDEAS PREDICTED

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—Predictions that the world conference on which the United States already has been sound out might meet at least some of Senator Borah's ideas today for a round-table discussion of economics.

At the same time, though, Borah indicated impatience over delay in a formal invitation for the United States to join the meeting sponsored by the League of Nations and being held in London. The United States would take the initiative.

The government officially was silent, but in some quarters there were indications that European nations will suggest debt revision when the next debt payments become due Dec. 15.

Senator Borah's plan had come from the state department but was being discussed by the treasury department. He was told the United States would not be invited to the conference unless it was willing to talk about debts and tariffs at the suggested conference growing out of the European meeting.

When Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, talked over the new meeting with American officials, he was told the United States would not be invited to the conference unless it was willing to talk about debts and tariffs at the suggested conference growing out of the European meeting.

The Idaho Senator would trade war debts for disarmament and international reconciliation. He plan regardless of administration silence and because of his prominence abroad, was considered at the capital as at least an overture toward dealing with debt payers next December.

Pending a careful survey of public reaction and public education, no one believes that when the conference is agreed to it will get away from a consideration of proposals to reduce armaments.

BEAUMONT, July 26.—(AP)—The older of two young men held at Newton for robbery of the Newton State Bank of $2000 shortly after noon yesterday, told officers at Newton this morning that he is Danny Leach, who was sentenced to the state penitentiary at Huntsville in 1930 for murder and robbery of the Cisco bank.

Leach was sentenced July 9, 1930, for two to 15 years for murder and two years for theft of $50, the two to run concurrently, according to records of the local police department. He was sent from Eastland and Tom Green counties.

A younger brother of Leach, who gave his name as James Leach, told officers that he is only 16 years old, but officers are inclined to believe he is older. Danny Leach was 18 when sentenced in 1930, and was 21 when he was arrested at Newton. He is a waiter by profession, is married and has a wife residing at Alton, Texas, according to Leach.

The bandit pair obtained $2,000 in currency from the Newton bank shortly after noon yesterday after locking J. Poy Lawson, vice president, in the vault and escaped in an automobile toward Louisiana.

The pair were captured about 5:30 at Leesville, Louisiana, and returned to Newton. About $1,700 of the stolen currency was recovered.

Paroled After Two Years in Prison

HUNTSVILLE, July 26.—(AP)—Danny Leach, reported held for the $2,000 robbery of the Newton State Bank, was paroled May 17, 1932, after two years in the Texas state penitentiary, the prison record clerk's office said today.

The record showed Leach was sent up in May 1930 from Eastland, Texas, for the murder of a man. He was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary, the prison record clerk's office said today.

Leach's record as a "prisoner was clear and good," the clerk added. "When duty whispers low, 'Thou must.'"

ACTIVITIES LOCAL CHAMBER COMMERCE TOLD TO DIRECTORS

Various activities of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce were reported to the board of directors at the annual meeting held Tuesday evening, with projects of the agricultural committee, taxes, highway and other items evoking discussions.

YOUTHFUL BROTHERS ARRESTED FOLLOWING ROBBERY OF BANK

DANNY LEACH PAROLED FROM FIFTEEN YEAR MURDER SENTENCE IN MAY

BEAUMONT, July 26.—(AP)—The older of two young men held at Newton for robbery of the Newton State Bank of $2000 shortly after noon yesterday, told officers at Newton this morning that he is Danny Leach, who was sentenced to the state penitentiary at Huntsville in 1930 for murder and robbery of the Cisco bank.

Leach was sentenced July 9, 1930, for two to 15 years for murder and two years for theft of $50, the two to run concurrently, according to records of the local police department. He was sent from Eastland and Tom Green counties.

A younger brother of Leach, who gave his name as James Leach, told officers that he is only 16 years old, but officers are inclined to believe he is older. Danny Leach was 18 when sentenced in 1930, and was 21 when he was arrested at Newton. He is a waiter by profession, is married and has a wife residing at Alton, Texas, according to Leach.

The bandit pair obtained $2,000 in currency from the Newton bank shortly after noon yesterday after locking J. Poy Lawson, vice president, in the vault and escaped in an automobile toward Louisiana.

The pair were captured about 5:30 at Leesville, Louisiana, and returned to Newton. About $1,700 of the stolen currency was recovered.

The record showed Leach was sent up in May 1930 from Eastland, Texas, for the murder of a man. He was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary, the prison record clerk's office said today.

Leach's record as a "prisoner was clear and good," the clerk added. "When duty whispers low, 'Thou must.'"

HOOPER MUST TAKE RESPONSIBILITY OF NEW RELIEF LAWS

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—The action of President Hoover in turning over control of the Reconstruction Corporation directors to the board yesterday, Albee Pomerene of Ohio, was being weighed for political significance today in the capital.

Word from Cleveland was that the former senator would not be here. Meanwhile, legislators at the capitol conjectured whether the move would have a reflex in the presidential campaign.

Rayney, the Democratic floor leader in the house, expressed the view that although men of his party allegiance will hold four of the seven directorships, the administration "can't dodge" responsibility for the new relief law that the corporation must administer.

There was no indication today when the last director, who must be a Republican, will be appointed.

Meanwhile, relief loans and other new activities of the corporation will await the arrival of Pomerene and the naming of the seventh director.

Corporation officials said that courtesy to the new directors would dictate such a course and that it was thought wise to have the full membership present when policies and details of carrying out the relief act are adopted.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP)—President Hoover, says the House Democratic leader, "can't dodge" responsibility for the new relief law although he has selected a majority of democrats to run the reconstruction finance corporation.

That was the way Representative Rayney of Illinois summed up his reaction to the White House announcement that Albee Pomerene of Ohio, had been chosen for one of the two remaining places on the corporation's directorate.

The appointment gave democratic control to the new relief corporation of a republican for the last post will bring their number to three.

Rayney said Pomerene was a "man of unquestioned ability" but added: "There isn't any question about the responsibility for the existing relief law. The president has had his own way about the relief law and he should have it. If it fails, the responsibility will be his. He can't dodge it. He vetoed the Garner relief bill."

Pomerene, the president said, will be elected chairman of the $3,800,000,000 corporation's board which now lines up like this: Democratic—Pomerene, Harvey Couch of Pine Bluff, Arkansas; Jesse Jones of Houston, Texas; and Wilson McCarthy of Salt Lake City, Utah; republicans—Senator Charles McNary of Oregon and Gardner Cowles, Sr., of Des Moines, Iowa. The law specifies the party division must be four and three, so a member of the majority must be picked for the last vacancy.

As Pomerene's appointment was announced, the agriculture department officials said their plan for handling the $10,000,000 plan of help finance agricultural credit corporations and livestock loan companies.

The tax board to be set up after getting federal loans they will rediscuss farmer's notes at the intermediate credit banks.

CUBAN REVOLT PLOT REPORTED UNCOVERED IN ARMY SECTION

HAVANA, July 28.—(AP)—Police disclosed today that they had uncovered a plot for revolution scheduled to take place between Aug. 12 and Aug. 15.

The conspiracy was directed, they said, by members of the army detachment which rebelled last year under Generals Francisco Peraza. That mutiny was put down by loyal troops and the general was killed.

This morning a Havana customs inspector was arrested on a charge that his part of the conspiracy was to pass arms and ammunition disguised as fruits and other merchandise to the rebels.

Yesterday, police said, the seized 500 pounds of dynamite which was to have been used to blow up a bridge across the Almendares river while President Machado's automobile was passing.

STATE AUTOMATIC TAX BOARD PLACES 1932 LEVY 69 CENTS

RATE FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES PLACED AT CONSTITUTIONAL MAXIMUM

AUSTIN, July 26.—(AP)—The state automatic tax board announced today it had set the state tax rate at 69 cents per $100 valuation for 1932.

That is a decrease of five cents under the tax collected in 1931 valuations.

The tax rate for school purposes was set at the constitutional maximum of 35 cents; for Confederate pensions at seven cents and for general revenue purposes at 27 cents. The tax rate last year was 74 cents.

A decrease of $261,000,000 in property valuations was estimated by the tax board. Valuations on which the tax was levied last year totaled $1,000,000,000 while for this year the estimated valuation totaled $3,920,247,156. The school tax and the tax for Confederate pensions was figured on this valuation while the general revenue tax was figured on valuations of $3,572,615,376 because of the tax remissions granted various counties by the legislature.

The total of the valuations exempted from the general revenue tax because of tax remissions was listed at $347,631,800.

The legislature last summer enacted a statute fixing the maximum tax rate for school purposes at 69 cents per $100 valuation. Normally the automatic tax board figures up the amount that will be needed to meet the demands, within the constitutional limit of 74 cents.

School Apportionment. It was estimated by the tax board the school fund would require $34,583,637, this figure including a scholastic apportionment of $17,500 per student. School fund receipts for 1931-32 were estimated at $16,488,417 leaving the amount to be raised by the tax levy at $21,714,264.

It was estimated the 35 cent tax would yield revenues of $13,720,900.

It was believed likely, however, the per capita apportionment, both for 1931-32 and 1932-33, would be $18,000, leaving the needs of the school fund the board figured in the school fund for the purchase of textbooks during the present fiscal year almost $1,000,000. They said they had been advised.

The per capita apportionment of $17,500 would require $27,405,000, based on an enrollment of 1,568,000 students. The allotment for textbooks for the next fiscal year was set at $1,643,000 while the obligations of the school fund for 1931-32, were estimated at $5,515,637.

General Fund. The 27 cent tax rate for general revenue purposes was estimated to yield $9,646,061. Appropriations made by the 42nd legislature, plus $300,000 estimated as needed to defray the expenses of the 43rd legislature, and $1,012,476 in obligations of the general revenue fund that would be outstanding Aug. 31, 1932, brought the total needed for this fund to $27,417,676.

Receipts from sources other than ad valorem taxes were estimated at $13,893,113 leaving the amount that must be raised by the tax levy at $12,224,563. The 27 cent tax rate, on the basis of figures prepared by the comptroller's office would leave the general revenue fund short by $6,586,813.

The 35 cent school tax will fall by $7,993,364 to meet the estimated needs of the school fund, the figures showed.

The tax board in estimating the total that must be raised from the school and general revenue tax, figured in the statutory 20 per cent allowed for costs of collection, delinquencies and other contingencies.

ALLRED TO SEEK TRIAL OIL SUITS ON OCTOBER 3RD

AUSTIN, July 28.—(AP)—Attorney General James V. Allred prepared to renew a motion today in Travis county district court to set the anti-trust oil ouster suit for trial Oct. 3. The motion was made several weeks ago and was held in abeyance for the first week of September. The testimony will be read to the court or jury at all parties.

Allred also announced he would request George E. Shell, special commissioner appointed by Judge Moore to hear testimony preliminary to the trial, to resume taking testimony on the first week of September. The testimony will be read to the court or jury at all parties.

W. R. Boyd of New York, executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute, one of the defendants in the ouster suit, probably will be the first witness, Allred said.

Allred sued for maximum penalties of approximately $17,000,000 and for forfeiture of the defendants' rights to operate in Texas. He alleged they had violated the state's anti-trust statutes by a conspiracy in restraint of trade. The suit involves a code of ethics for marketing gasoline and refined petroleum products.

FORMER OFFICER GRAIN CORPORATION DENOUNCES BODY SCATHING ARRAIGNMENT OF FARMERS COOPERATIVE ORGANIZATION HEARD

KANSAS CITY, July 28.—(P)—A scathing denunciation of the Farmers National Grain Corporation, a federal farm board set-up by one of its former officers was written today into the records of the congressional committee which is conducting an inquiry into business conducted by the government.

The attack was made by Lawrence Farlow, Bloomington, Ill., a director of the Farmers National Grain Dealers' association. Farlow, who resigned as a director of the Farmers National Grain Corporation in 1930 because of differences over policies, told the committee that the set-up was neither farmer-owned, nor controlled, and it was not working in the interests of the farmer.

He said the Farmers National cannot be owned by the producers, "because the farmers had paid in $45,280 in a ten-million dollar corporation when I left. It now is in the hands of a farm board for 16 million dollars."

"On important matters of policy," he testified, "the farm board is controlled by the Farmers National and as an example pointed out that George S. Minor had been employed as vice president and general manager at the board's request. The farm board, he declared, had ordered the corporation to adopt the compulsory type of contract."

Representative Joseph B. Shannon, chairman of the committee, left last night for St. Louis for a two-day hearing starting today.

Veterans

With the arrival of police reserves, Glasford maneuvered them in such a way that the veterans were broken up into a number of sections, some on the lot to be cleared and others across the streets.

The scattered veterans' encampments at Anacostia and other places in the southern section of the city were cleared of their inhabitants having gone individually or in groups to the Pennsylvania avenue site.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—A group of the bonus seeking war veterans today resorted to violence after being evicted from a building they had been occupying on lower Pennsylvania avenue.

They chased police for some distance by throwing bricks at the officers.

Apparently without any reason the fighting broke out near the assembly ground of the veterans after they had been removed from their shelter.

One thousand or more of the bonus seekers had arrived on the scene from Anacostia and had broken through this police lines around the block.

It is believed that Pelham D. Glasford, superintendent of police, had ordered every officer available for that purpose to the site to guard against trouble.

Earlier today the government's evacuation of all veterans from federal property.

Quick reinforcements rushed into the area and the brick throwing veterans soon subsided so far as actual violence was concerned, but continued yelling and shouting, "Let's run them out!"

Meanwhile, police reserves from every precinct in the district of Columbia arrived on the scene.

Veterans were moving on the Pennsylvania area from all directions and gathering bricks and stones en route.

Police officers which the veterans have been living with covered with bricks and debris from buildings which have been demolished.

Folkmen sought refuge in the fact that the barracks when it started and a few officers drew their pistols.

None fired, however, Glasford was less than a half block away when the trouble began and promptly went to the scene. He moved among the veterans, urging them to desist from violence and pay attention to their leaders.

One treasury present said the entire area probably would be evacuated at once regardless of the consequences.

Several hundred veterans plunged into the center of the fight, Glasford succeeded in stopping the rush at police ropes. Several police and a number of veterans were turned around Glasford's back to the rear.

He stopped the men and asked to confer with company leaders. One small veteran, apparently the leader of the attack, attempted to strike the men again. He had been struck with a brick and the right side of his face was covered with blood. Police seized him and put him in a patrol wagon.

Walter W. Waters, commander of the bonus expeditionary force, was present but at first refused to take any part in the discussion. Later he talked with Glasford.

Police reinforcements poured in constantly, motor sirens screaming, and officers were ready for action with their clubs. No tear gas bombs were used in the first clash, officers fighting the veterans off with their sticks.

No Further Evictions
WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—Following a conference with treasury officials, Pelham D. Glasford, superintendent of police, today told leaders of the bonus army that there would be no further evictions today from Pennsylvania avenue federal property.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—Eviction of bonus seeking former service men from a building on Pennsylvania avenue was begun today by treasury officials assisted by a heavy police guard.

Balked for a time beginning destruction of the building by refusal of the veterans to leave, treasury employees finally began operations on the ground floor of the three-story structure.

They walked up to a group of veterans standing in the doorway, took one by the arm and marched him off the property. The man put up no resistance and smiled at his captors.

Pelham D. Glasford, police chief was in charge of the officers.

"Arrest any man that resists," he ordered the men.

Treasury officials intend to repossess the building so that after occupants were removed a wrecking crew could go to work.

The building is a block from the capitol grounds. After it is torn down a number of others will be demolished to make way for a government building project. The building has been living in them temporarily.

Proceedings Watched
While the first men were being led off, others on the upper floors and on the roof waved American flags and cheered. Large numbers of other veterans crowded about and watched the proceeding.

The ground floor was cleared without difficulty. The only way to get to the second floor was up a ladderlike stairway. When the treasury agents arrived on that floor they met their first resistance.

A large negro declared he was unable to walk down the stairway because the height makes me dizzy.

After his refusal, the treasury agents started to pick him up bodily. When he resisted he was arrested.

Officers bumped him down the steps as he shouted at the top of his voice "Don't hit me, don't hit me, I'm a citizen."

He was placed in a patrol wagon and hauled away. Glasford, standing in the group of veterans on the second floor, joined with others else in hearty laughter.

Others on the second floor came down the narrow stairway without resistance.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—The treasury department today sent a group of federal employees to the disputed area along lower Pennsylvania avenue occupied by "art of the bonus army to begin wrecking operations under the protection of District of Columbia police.

Walter W. Waters, leader of the bonus expeditionary forces, was addressing a mass meeting of his followers on the site when the order arrived from the treasury.

He promptly informed his men of what was taking place and told them to govern their future actions with great care, for they would be in conflict with the federal government.

Waters last night informed police he was willing to evacuate the area peacefully in view of the fact "that the government had camp site and money for barracks elsewhere."

Today's action by the treasury was the culmination of days of pickering and buck-passing among the various federal and police agencies of the government and the District of Columbia.

Waters told the men that funds to begin construction of permanent barracks at Camp Bartlett in Anacostia had been secured from federal employees but from a woman here in the city who has money.

His plan was to that site. Waters maintained his did not desire to make any veteran act against his own will and based his plea on the argument that it would benefit the bonus army to depart from the city and form a permanent camp.

When he asked for a show of hands on how many would leave only a few indicated their willingness to depart from the city. Waters said he would not force the men to leave.

Under the personal supervision of Pelham D. Glasford, superintendent of police, the building was thrown around the first building to be demolished. It is occupied largely by a group of veterans who occupy the building.

The men who occupied the building went into it, apparently to remove what few belongings they have.

After the men occupying the building marked for destruction was called. They voted 18 to 5 against vacating the structure and one of this number took to the roof where he sat waving.

Though only 23 voted on this proposition, bonus leaders claim the building was occupied by 125 men.

A few gathered up their belongings and left. But the others stuck tight for the time being.

About 40 police soldiers crowded into the building to be demolished after its regular occupants had voted not to get out.

A stentorian-voiced Texan stood at the front of the building and shouted:

"Come on, all you bums, and let's stay in here. What difference does it make if you do get out? It's your home. Do you expect to live forever?"

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—Having stuck to their camps on federal property despite orders, threats, promises, police and battering rams, the capital's bonus hunters today had agreed to leave of their own free will.

At least one of the veterans' leaders, Walter W. Waters, told his men to begin moving to other billets.

His announcement after a prolonged talk with harrassed Pelham D. Glasford, police superintendent, and the District of Columbia commissioners, promised over more to end the ten days of pickering and buck-passing over who should get the veterans out of crude shelters on Pennsylvania avenue and why they should go.

Just before Waters approved the retreat—principally because their "friends" had donated money for barracks at Camp Bartlett, in Anacostia, a suburb of Washington, the veterans could be removed from their grounds on Pennsylvania avenue so old structures could be torn away and the federal building program proceed.

Immediate Eviction Ordered
WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—Immediate eviction of all members of the bonus expeditionary force from federal property was ordered today by the government shortly after a group of veterans had been removed from one of the buildings they occupied on lower Pennsylvania avenue near the capitol.

The sweeping evacuation order was made public by Attorney General Mitchell, who said federal employees available to care for all the veterans who proved rebellious.

A large group were removed, some forcibly, from their temporary home near the capitol. At least two arrests were made of veterans who refused to leave voluntarily and were hustled out by police.

TEXAS OATS ARE BEING EXPORTED TO EUROPEAN POINTS

FORT WORTH, July 28.—(P)—Texas oats are being exported to Europe. The movement, which started this week, constitutes the first export business in oats since before the World War.

Texas last year produced one of the largest oat crops ever known here. With a heavy carry-over, another big crop was grown this year, and demand lagged and farmers found themselves unable in many instances to dispose of their crop at any price.

With Germany again taking Texas oats, a ready demand for the rest of the year is expected with prices showing a considerable improvement over recent values.

Fort Worth grain men today were bidding 20 1/2 cents for No. 2 red oats delivered at Houston or Galveston. The freight rate runs to about 9 cents.

According to distance, the shipping point elevator man must take a slight toll and the price to the farmer is around nine to 10 cents f. o. b. cars, which is still the lowest price he has received for this crop in many years, and below the cost of production.

Negro Voters

(Continued From Page 1) the power to determine who shall be eligible for membership and consequently to vote in the primary elections, Associate Justice Scroggs wrote. Chief Justice Fly concurred.

At the election laws of Texas and their history can lead to no other conclusion but that the party can determine the eligibility for party membership," the opinion stated.

The argument before the state district court and in federal court where the suit was first filed, attorneys for Booker argued that the state convention and executive committee of the party were without power to set up qualifications for its members because of state laws regulating elections.

Attorneys for the defense argued that the right of the power to determine its own membership is inherent in the party and is passed in convention were outside of state regulation.

They also argued that the state regulatory laws are not of the nature to take any of the party power away from the party.

Booker claimed he and other negroes are entitled to vote in the primary elections because of the United States constitution's prohibitions against discrimination because of race or color.

Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly dismissed the suit in his court, holding that the plaintiffs should have sought a mandamus, which he was without power to grant, instead of an injunction to protect valuable rights and property. His opinion declared, however, that the state convention and executive committee undoubtedly violated the law in barring negroes from the primary.

Just before Waters approved the retreat—principally because their "friends" had donated money for barracks at Camp Bartlett, in Anacostia, a suburb of Washington, the veterans could be removed from their grounds on Pennsylvania avenue so old structures could be torn away and the federal building program proceed.

Veteran Killed

(Continued From Page 1) trouble was an army ambulance. It was parked in the middle of the street, while police and veterans milled about in an atmosphere of tension.

Attorney General Mitchell arrived at the White House, meanwhile, to consult with the president. He said in reply to questions that he could make no statement at the time upon additional courses of action open to the government in the crisis with bonus seeking veterans.

Secrecy Maintained
Secretary Hurley gave publicity to the order for troops following a series of conferences with his chief of staff, the adjutant general and other officials, which continued throughout the period when the first clash of the bonus veterans with police occurred.

The greatest secrecy was maintained at the war department despite the fact that it was known some in advance that troops were being held in readiness throughout the third corps area, which embraces Washington. About 15 minutes before Mr. Hurley called in newspaper men General MacArthur had doffed his white uniform beach civilian suit for his palm.

All prisoners will be turned over to civil authorities, Mr. Hurley pointed out.

The president notified the secretary of war officially of the situation with which district authorities were unable to cope and the necessary orders were issued, the whole procedure having been threshed out in earlier conferences.

Infantry from Fort Humphry, Howards, and Cavalry from Fort Meade were ordered to Fort Myer as a reserve unit.

Brigadier General Miles had ordered to clear the area between Third and Sixth streets and Pennsylvania avenue and Missouri avenue, a wide area, "using such force as might be necessary."

Washington, July 28.—(P)—Trops were ordered today because of rioting between police and the bonus army, in which at least two of the veterans were seriously wounded.

From Fort Myer, squadrons of cavalry rushed from Virginia into the city and headed for the White House.

Down near the capitol meanwhile, police strove to keep order among the veterans who were in a ugly mood after having been fired upon by the officers.

At least eight shots were fired in the second clash of the day, in which police had been thrust by attempts to resist eviction of the veterans from government property.

Two police who reported to officials that they had participated in the shooting, were J. O. Hite and one Zamaneck. Both of them were taken away for treatment of injuries received in the melee.

Pelham D. Glasford, police chief, was standing on the second floor of a building inhabited by the veterans when the shooting began. He was on the edge of the partly demolished structure, looking down at the scuffling below when a group of veterans attacked and began beating an officer, Chinnault. He saw Shinnault fire his gun. Then Glasford shouted:

"Stop that shooting. Put up that gun."

Meantime, Shinnault down at the bottom of the rickety stairs leading to the second floor had gotten to his feet. Hearing a shout, he turned quickly and pointed his gun directly at Glasford. He soon saw his mist.

Line Up at White House.
The first detachment of cavalry lined up on the ellipse behind the White House, in case of any demonstration there.

The troops were in full field uniform.

The riders dismounted on the ellipse within a block of the executive mansion and lined up in company front.

The unusually heavy police guard that has surrounded the White House grounds for several days was absent when the cavalry arrived, as the only unusual police guard in evidence was a patrol of motorcycle policemen drawn up across an extension of Pennsylvania avenue.

Secretary Hurley's instructions to General Douglas MacArthur read as follows:

"The president has just informed me that the civil government of the District of Columbia has reported to him that it is unable to maintain law and order in the District."

"You will have United States troops proceed immediately to the scene of disorder. Co-operate fully with the District of Columbia police force which is now in charge. Surround the affected area and clear it without delay.

"Turn over all prisoners to civil authorities.

"In your orders insist that any women and children who may be in the affected area be accorded every consideration and kindness. Use all humanity consistent with the due execution of this order."

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—Shooting broke out today between police and veterans encamped on Pennsylvania avenue two blocks from the capitol.

Veterans surged about a large and partly dismantled brick structure which they were occupying when suddenly a tight broke out with an officer attempting to disperse them.

A half dozen shots were fired and one veteran was seized and carried to a patrol wagon.

Two veterans were shot, one in the neck and one in the side.

This clash, accompanied by brick and bottle throwing, was quieted by larger numbers of police who rushed to the scene following an earlier one in which rioting had injured four police and as many veterans.

It was evident that the bonus army was in an ugly mood.

The clashes were caused by orders for the police to evict the veterans from the building on the capitol where the public building program had been held up by the bonus seekers.

The firing was started by a policeman standing at the top of a flight of stairs. At a conference earlier between Pelham D. Glasford, police commissioner, and Walter W. Waters, commander of the bonus army, the police chief had said that he feared an outbreak of shooting unless the veterans would comply with the orders. He said he had seen some pistols waved, but did not state whether these were by police or the bonus army adherents.

When the firing took place, the crowd at the bottom of the stairs had begun to rush upward. A fight started at the top, the private police drew his revolver, held up his hand for a moment, and they did not and he opened fire, shooting twice.

The moment the first shot was fired, the crowd on the steps fell backward and those in the streets scattered in all directions.

Glasford was on the first floor of the building, looking over the situation.

Some on the crowd of several hundred below yelled: "Get them out!"

A while before, the grim Glasford, who had the eviction order, called off for a while, had told a gathering of the veterans: "I suppose you know one policeman is dying."

Police in Fighting Mood.
This apparently had little effect on his bedraggled band of listeners, as they stood behind police lines—some scowling, some laughing. As word of the seriously injured policeman's condition spread among his comrades, it was clearly evident that it put them in a fighting mood.

Glasford had been moving on the principle of keeping the ground gained today, in which a number of veterans had been forced from one building and a line strung up for a cleared area to some extent around. He said he knew of no plans to call troops, but he understood that troops were ready in the vicinity to head toward the scene if need be.

Veterans Push Police.
A crowd of veterans soon afterwards formed on the sidewalk in front of the building. In a threatening mood these sought to rush the police lines drawn up in front of them. The police, much outnumbered, closed in to hold them back.

Just as the veterans with upstretched hands moved to rush onward, Glasford addressed his men from the second floor of the building, ordering them to fall back.

The police did. Shouts and tears rose up from the throats of the veterans.

Several of the bonus seekers were grabbed by police and hurried away in patrol wagons.

Glasford himself came down from the second floor soon afterwards, chasing two or three veterans before him. He then went to the rear of the building where more trouble seemed imminent.

SICK AND CONVALESCENT
B. Tinkle was reported to be doing very nicely at the Navarro Clinic Thursday.

FARM BOARD TRADE FOR BRAZIL COFFEE ATTACKED THURSDAY

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—(P)—The federal farm board's deal with Brazil in which it traded wheat for coffee was assailed by a coffee merchant today when the congressional committee investigating government activity in business opened a two-day session here.

In a prepared statement, presented to the committee, F. E. Norwine, president of the Norwine Coffee company, criticized the farm board's trade of 25,000,000 bushels of wheat for 32,000,000 pounds of Brazilian coffee, which, he said, made the farm board the largest importer of coffee in the United States.

"The stunning, blundering farm board is perhaps the most outstanding failure in history," Norwine said. "American wheat, which cost the farm board 82 cents a bushel, was traded on the basis of a 50-cent value—a terrific loss to begin with."

"Coffee was accepted in exchange at 3 1/2 cents a pound, at least 75 cents a bag more than coffee was worth, or a difference of $700,000."

Beginning in September, he said, the farm board will offer its coffee for sale at the rate of 62,500 bags a month for 17 months, which will inscribe a new chapter in governmental merchandising."

WICKED WASTE.

A British authority has made a careful calculation about the annual world cost of armaments and finds that during 1931 the total was 980,000,000 pounds. This figure approximately coincides with a calculation made some months ago. The British calculator gives point to his figures by adding that the total armament expenditure for last year is "a sum equal to one gold pound for every minute since the birth of Christ!"

Such statistics have a melancholy ring in the ears of the average layman; but will the Lausanne Conference stop this wicked waste of world resources, squandered on an industry which, for the most part, brings the taxpayer interest on his huge investment only if there is a war? Setting aside engineers, service scientists and such, soldiers, sailors, forts and warships earn no money, construct no goods; they are only consumers.

MODERNIZING NEEDS.

In nomination for the post of grand exalted recommender of improvements has been placed the name of the man who made a plea for a car window that could be opened without a crowbar. It goes without saying that every traveler in cars admires this idea without reservation, and earnestly implores the retention of its author as official reformer of the ways and means of railroad transportation.

There is, for example, this matter of the Pullman chair. To judge from the fact that a charge is made for the privilege of sitting in it, those who designed it are under the impression that it is comfortable. It is not.

There is the matter of ventilation, particularly in smoking compartments and cars. With so much air rushing by outside, it would seem that some scheme could be devised to get a little of it inside. But to date the happy medium seems unattainable.

Then there is the matter of bumps, or more accurately jerks. On many of the luxurious trains, engineers indulge in a practice which plays havoc with the comfort of the passengers. The passenger's reaction is not unlike that of the boy on the end of a game of "whip." There ought to be some way to bring a train to a gentle stop, and to start a train without a standing broad jump that fairly shakes your back teeth loose.

This list of grievances could be extended ad infinitum, but if the evils set forth are corrected the best brains of the railroads will be occupied for many a day.

If Governor Roosevelt wrote his half-hour acceptance speech on a plane trip from New York to Chicago, some of those keynote and nomination speeches must have been composed on a globe-circling flight.

As a rule, speakases adapt themselves easily to changing circumstances, and when 2.75 beer is legalized would merely have to water the present stock 200 per cent.

Karageogevitch, Zhivkovitch, Boghitchevitch and Obsonovitch are principles in Jugoslavian political fraud. What is the Irishman on and doing so far from home?

JUST FOLKS

COUNTRY PICTURE.
Last year upon a little porch
As I went riding by,
A quaint old pair, with silvered hair,
I often used to spy
Where side by side, the day's work done,
They watched the setting of the sun.

The little farm they kept was trim
The little yard was gay
With hollyhocks and scarlet phlox.
As picturesque were they
And oft the thought occurred to me
How very lonely they must be.

Now summer time is here once more
Again the road I fare,
But where they sat I notice that
The man alone is there.
And well I know one winter day
God must have called the wife away.

Now never shall I pass that house
When the cool breezes stir
The summer flowers in evening hours.
But I shall think of her
So stately and so dignified,
Who looked so lovely at his side.

TRAINING DIPLOMATS

Two important considerations are usually overlooked in discussions about the selection of men for promotion in the foreign service and about jealousy between the diplomatic and consular branches. One is the fact that, as our relations with other countries embrace so many questions of trade and business, it is increasingly important for our representatives abroad to have a knowledge of more than the mere diplomatic forms. The other is that the state department has shifted men not only from country to country but from continent to continent, with the result that very few have the chance of becoming thoroughly familiar with the political, commercial and social life of any one of them.

The principal now well established, of naming professional diplomats to be chiefs of missions is sound. As a corollary to this the government should pursue those policies in the assignment of men in the foreign service which are productive of capable diplomats. Other considerations are of minor importance compared with the need for so shaping the training of our foreign service members that they become thoroughly proficient and that they work with a sympathetic understanding of the interests of Americans and America abroad.

DYING PREJUDICE

The late and lamented Donn Byrne used to record of himself that when once, in the course of a varied career, he found employment in a garage, the possession of a master's degree was not counted against him. This fact showed great breadth of mind on the part of the garage proprietor, for there was, and still is, a certain amount of prejudice against employing college graduates in cases in which ability to do rough manual labor, and to keep on doing it, is a sine qua non.

Similarly, except perhaps in the teaching and journalistic professions, there has existed, not exactly a prejudice, but rather a certain distaste, directed against the woman doctor of philosophy. In thinking of her as very learned and somewhat blue-stockingish, possible employers forgot that she probably possessed a woman's tact and certainly a woman's heart, and that the very qualities which enabled her to attain the coveted doctorate were those which might fit her admirably for success in many fields of endeavor.

It is pleasant to find that this old unwarranted prejudice or distaste or feeling, or whatever it was, is fast disappearing. It's disappearance is partly due to the trend of an age in which women are increasingly engaged in gainful occupations, and partly to the sheer force of the numbers of women who have received the degree of doctor of philosophy. Moreover, business has discovered that these doctors are not necessarily bookish persons more qualified to sit in a library than in an office.

They always build a platform for a candidate to stand on, but soon after it is completed he begins to run. When the revenue law was just one week old congress discovered it leaked and had to patch it.

REACHING CENTURY MARK

The census bureau at Washington was the first to cast doubt on the accuracy of the 1930 census figures, just compiled, showing 3,964 centenarians in the United States. Nor is the bureau merely a doubting Thomas, its staff knowing better than anyone else how easily it is for a person to exaggerate or be mistaken in his or her age.

Centenarians can be divided into two groups—those who have credible documentary proof of their age and those who base their longevity claims on hearsay, hazy recollection or deliberate exaggeration. The true number of hundred-year-olds is probably much less than the census total.

An accurate count is impossible now, but it will not be many more years before there will be a record of every life. It was much less than a century ago that the states began keeping vital statistics. Few of the country's centenarians can obtain official proof of the date of their birth, most of them depending upon family Bibles or even less reliable records.

One is reminded of the extreme youth of the United States as a closely knit union of well organized commonwealths and communities by such disclosures as this. Only a hundred years back the child meant so little to the state that it did not bother even to record its birth.

Pretenders to longevity beyond the century mark have not many more years to exaggerate their age. In another decade or two it will be possible to check up on all of them.

NEW CUSS WORDS.

"Cussing" has become a feeble, even if not an utterly lost art, according to Prof. Burgess Johnson, head of the English department at Syracuse University. Prof. Johnson believes something should be done to strengthen it. And he thinks this can be accomplished only by abandoning the old expletives and inventing new ones. The old "cuss words," he says, have been so corrupted by usage that they have completely lost their original force.

Well, it does seem as if the "Big D," for instance, has been subjected to so much usage that it no longer means much, even to the flappers. Similarly, the use of "hell" has become so common that even when uttered in grandmother's parlance it arouses no terrifying visions of fire and brimstone. And the same is true of many other "cuss words."

But what new substitutes might be employed that would possess the brevity, sonority and emphasis that a 100 per cent "cuss word" needs to be effective? Offhand, it is difficult to think of a single one. But, of course, there is Flaming Youth that might be consulted, if the professor is really in earnest. Flaming Youth has invented some truly marvelous and original slang in the last decade. More than likely the boys who wear collegiate pants, play ukuleles and talk jargon that would have sounded like Choctaw a generation ago could think up a list of new "cuss words" that would more than fill the bill if they put their minds on it.

swarmed with these species. It has been proposed that game refuges be established in various parts of the African continent, that these animals may not be lost forever, but there are, as usual, two influences working against the scheme. One is the settlers who, like our farmers in respect to the black bear, would prefer the destruction of the animals. The other is the hunters who are flocking to Africa, the last and best hunting ground for big game, in ever-increasing numbers. Only governmental action, it appears, can prevent the wiping out of the disappearing species.

A robot on display in New York can mix, cook and serve flapjacks. Nothing remains but to dress it in a negligee and teach it to grab the morning paper. The North Pole may have shifted but it didn't pass this way.

DEMAGOGIC APPEAL FAILS.

Elections in two Australian states show that the tendency toward conservative and constructive policies which brought about the formation of national governments in Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand is still potent in the British commonwealth of nations.

The most notable result was in New South Wales where the Labor party, which had adopted an extremist policy under the leadership of former Premier Lang, was badly defeated by the United Australian party, which won a majority of 42 seats. The new premier, B. S. Stevens, declares the result is a declaration of the people against repudiation of the public debt and in favor of a free democracy against communist dictatorship. In Queensland, which has an area almost two and a half times that of Texas, there was a Labor victory, but the victors belong to the moderate wing of the movement and hence in reality a check to the extremist wing.

Australia has been in severe economic and financial difficulties which required heroic treatment. An agreement on necessary financial reforms was made by the premiers of the various states and found support from Labor moderates as well as from the opposition, which formed the United Australia party to meet the national emergency. The elections of December 1st gave this party a national mandate for economy and financial reform. Only in New South Wales did the Labor extremists under Premier Lang continue to obstruct accomplishment of the necessary sacrifices. The state elections have demonstrated that those who believe the people favored constructive policies judged their temper better than those who believed them susceptible to demagogic appeal.

Africa's big game country is about as hazardous as Broadway, says Carveth Wells. On the Big stem, though, there are more drug stores in case of leaving films to be developed.

With one American in every seven visiting Canada every year, it would appear that the secret of stimulating tourists travel is to stimulate the tourist.

NEGRO RUNS AMUCK IN DALLAS TUESDAY KILLING WHITE MAN

ATTEMPTS TO KILL BROTHER THEN FLEES INTO CREEK BOTTOM NEARBY

DALLAS, July 26.—(P)—A crazed negro ran amuck in southeast Dallas today, shooting one man to death and firing at several others he passed in flight to nearby creek bottoms. He was armed with a shotgun. The shooting opened with an unsuccessful attempt to kill his brother.

J. N. Alcorn, 63, a white man was killed by a shotgun blast from a negro's shotgun as he drove a wagon loaded with cottonseed hulls down the street where the shooting took place.

The negro, Johnnie Harris, 30, shot Alcorn after he had failed in an attempt to kill his brother, Will Harris, operator of a grocery store. After shooting Alcorn, the negro fired at another white man but missed. He then ran toward the creek bottoms he fired several more times.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Alcorn, a nephew of the slain man, joined other officers in the chase for the negro. A posse of about 200 officers and residents of the neighborhood where the shooting occurred joined in the chase.

Will Harris told police that his brother, who lived on a farm at Oakwood all of his life, walked into the back of his store carrying a shotgun and said, "I'm going to kill you."

The storekeeper ducked behind a counter as his brother raised the gun and fired. The charge went through the front of the building, Johnnie Harris then ran out of the store and his brother called police. He was at the telephone when the shot which killed Alcorn was fired.

FIVE GRAND SALINE PEOPLE WERE HELD CAPTIVE BY GUNMEN

GRAND SALINE, July 26.—(P)—Five Grand Saline people, kidnapped on the Dixie Highway by a trio of unidentified gunmen, were released last night after being held captive for eight hours.

Their captors, who seemed to be fugitives from the law, evidently kidnapped them to prevent officers learning their whereabouts. From things the gunmen said, the Grand Saline people gained the impression they were members of a bank robbing gang and were ex-convicts.

Those kidnapped were Mr. and Mrs. Otho Dickson, Mays Walters, Tillman Walters and Tom Walters. The gunmen made no attempt to rob or harm them in any way.

Mays Walters was deputized last Sunday to aid officers in their efforts to capture three men who had abandoned a stolen car at Grand Saline.

Yesterday afternoon the Walters and Kelly were driving home from Canton when Mays Walters noticed tracks leading into the woods. He went to investigate. Three men who had been hiding covered him with guns and marched him back to the highway, where they took Tillman Walters and Kelly prisoners.

About that time Mr. and Mrs. Dickson drove up and were halted. One of the gunmen climbed in the Dickson car and the other two in the Walters car. The cars were driven southeast toward Martins Mill and later were circled back to the Dixie highway. About dusk they stopped on an isolated side road about two miles from Tyler.

The five were held at that point until 9 o'clock. Then the gunmen drove away in the Walters car.

Hunter Refuses Throw Support Sterling Camp

WICHITA FALLS, July 26.—(P)—Replying to a telegram from Gov. Ross Sterling congratulating him on his race and inviting his support in the second primary, Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls replied yesterday that for the present he "would take no action."

His message to Sterling follows: "I appreciate your telegram. Until my tired mind may relax I will take no action. Whatever I do, if anything, will be in the interest of the great plain people. I made a statement to the press which is all I care to say at this time. My supporters were independent thinkers."

BILLY HAMILTON DIED SUDDENLY IN COLORADO MONDAY

DALLAS, July 26.—William (Billy) Hamilton, aged 25 years, son of Judge and Mrs. Dexter Hamilton, 4809 Beverly Drive, died suddenly Monday afternoon at Boulder, Colo., where he was attending summer school in the University of Colorado. Judge Hamilton left Monday night for Amarillo where he expects to meet the body and accompany it to Dallas.

Mr. Hamilton was a graduate of Highland Park High school and of Kemper Military Academy. He formerly attended the University last year where he expected to continue his law studies this fall.

Injuries received in a fall three years ago from a porch at a family house at Austin, where he was attending the University of Texas, are believed to have been a contributory cause of his death. The immediate cause of death was said to have been a heart attack.

Surviving are his parents and a sister, Miss Mabel Hamilton. The body is expected to arrive here Wednesday.

To the Voters Of Navarro County

I take this method of gratefully thanking the voters of the county for giving me such a splendid vote in my race for district judge. I received 2758 votes as compared with 2385 votes four years ago, being only 282 votes behind the high man, whereas four years ago I went into the second primary 1,847 votes behind my opponent. I appreciate this expression of confidence. Let me urge all of my friends to continue their support and may I solicit the support of those who supported Judge Mays in the first primary. I feel it a compliment to have been selected as one of the candidates for district judge in the second primary over the opposition of a man of Mr. Mays' character and ability. If favored with the nomination on August 27, I pledge you a faithful and economical administration of the affairs of the office, assuring you that I shall give you the best that is in me to merit your confidence. Gratefully yours, WARREN HICKS. (political advertisement)

ILLINOIS MAKES FIRST BORROW TO AID ITS NEEDY

LOAN IS MADE EXACTLY WEEK AFTER FEDERAL RE- LIEF BILL BECOMES LAW

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—Exactly a week after the new federal relief bill became law, Illinois today has a $3,000,000 addition to her bank account with which to feed and care for needy. A federal loan of that amount—set at a recent interest—was announced by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday and made available immediately because it "appears that relief funds will be exhausted in certain localities" of that state by Monday.

Finding quick advancement of the money necessary, the corporation chose not to wait until its directorate was completed. Albee Fopprene, most recently selected director, had not reached the capital. One more member of the board must yet be named by President Hoover.

The federal agency, agreeing to lend the money out of the $300,000,000 fund in the new $2,225,000,000 relief act signed last Thursday said it would expect all states to meet their own needs as far as possible "and call upon the corporation only as a last resort."

Other applications for state loans are pending, but it was believed the corporation would withhold action on most of them until the new directors take office.

DATA ON FIVE-DAY WEEK SPREAD SOUGHT BY CHIEF EXECUTIVE

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—Two federal departments today sought for the President information as to how fast the five-day week is spreading and how it can be used even more.

They were obtaining facts Mr. Hoover intends to have ready Monday when he meets representatives of a recent New England conference on re-employment. At the coming meeting the White House said, the talk will be of "what further co-ordinated steps can be taken" to shorten working hours and speed employment.

Governor Winant of New Hampshire has asked that President Hoover receive the delegates. The request was granted and the conference was postponed for today but postponed for the convenience of the visitors.

After announcing he would talk with the New Englanders, the President instructed the commerce and labor departments to obtain information for him on the five-day week.

Candidate Floterial Representative HILL AND NAVARRO COUNTIES EXPRESSES HIS THANKS FOR SUPPORT

I would be ungrateful if I did not take this method of expressing my sincere thanks for the splendid vote that the good people of this county gave me in the recent primary. In all except a few boxes, I received a handsome majority over both of my opponents.

I received practically no votes in Hill county, consequently, there will be a run-off. The vote in the other county went almost solidly to the men of that county, and I sincerely trust that the good people of this county will see their way clear to give their home man as complete vote as did Hill.

With God's help, if elected, I will give you the best service possible.

Sincerely,

YOUR FRIENDS' METHODS

Free Beauty Advice
Miss Forbes suggests that you ask all your friends what they do to make themselves good looking. They may be sufficiently flattered by the compliment to give you lots of advice free. You don't have to take it, you know.

Find out from your friends, those whose looks you admire, the methods they use. There will be a surprising difference. In fact, no two will use the same lotions, or the same methods. What is good for one is not good for another; there are thousands of beauty-making creams and such on the market, and you can do as much experiment until you have worked out a system for yourself. And then change that every once in a while to add variety and spice to life.

I asked a lot of my friends recently what they did. A London woman, with large blue eyes and the delicate skin that English people are famous for, plucks her brows to make her eyes seem rounder. (Lately she has been plucking out hairs from the center, to give a very wide space between the eyebrows.) She washes her face mornings with a lather of complexion soap, and at night uses a thick greasy cream, for the skin is apt to be dry and wrinkle early in life.

A dark complexioned American friend reverses the process. She spreads thick cream on her skin first thing in the morning, first washing the face with hot water to open the pores. Then this soaks in while she has a hot bath, and a rub-down with alcohol. The cream is wiped off and what is left acts as a powder. At night she uses hot and cold water and nothing else, to leave the skin free to breathe.

And her face gains character because her thick black eyebrows are not plucked, but left natural. No beauty is completely natural these days. Everyone who cares for her appearance has a thorough manicure once a week, home done or professionally done, and spends a few minutes each day with oil or cream and bleach, to keep the manure perfect. In this all women agree. Women of middle age often sleep with cosmetic gloves on once or twice a week, to keep their hands young, smooth and white.

And every one uses ice as an astringent with a thorough face massage.

C. B. D.—You may make the camphor lotion yourself at home for rubbing into fatty spots over the body, or you may use plain spirits of camphor, but that will make much more expense for you. Three or four Epsom salts baths would be as much as you should take in a week. You should have them as hot as you can take them comfortably to help open the pores, so there is a chance to throw off as much surplus weight as is possible; and take them just before retiring, so there will be no chance of taking a cold. About four heaping handfuls of salts to half a bathtubful of water will be the average amount of strength, and if you prefer more water, add salts accordingly. It is a rule means much more than that after the bath gets into the but, but whatever amount is used, keep sponging all the rest of the body that is not under the water. About 30 minutes would be long enough to remain in such a bath, and keep up the temperature even though you have to run plain hot water into it.

Minnie F. C.—With the quite perfect measurements, the bust measure and that of the hips would be exactly the same, but if there were an inch or even two inches difference it would not be considered as any deficiency in the figure. What counts more than anything else is whether the parts of the body are in perfect alignment for if this is so, there will be the proper poise, with all organs held in place, and every movement will be that of grace.
